Copy link for ID document requests

Get a player's personal upload link onto your clipboard and share it yourself — in addition to (or instead of) the platform emailing and WhatsApping it.

What it does

The Request ID document flow on the Players register sends each selected player a personal, signed link to a public page where they upload their ID document straight onto their registration record. Copy link gives you that same link directly: the platform opens the request and puts the URL on your clipboard, but sends nothing. You then share it however works best — your own WhatsApp, a club group, a printed note via the club secretary.

Why you'd use it

- Minors. The platform never contacts under-18s directly, so they are skipped on a send. Copy the link and pass it to the parent or guardian instead.
- No contact details on file. A player with no email or cell can't be sent anything — but their link still works. Copy it and get it to them through the club.
- Failed or missed sends. If a WhatsApp bounced or an email went to spam, copy the link from the results list and deliver it by hand.
- Speed. You're on the phone with the club chairman — copy, paste, done.

How to use it

1	Open Admin Console → Players and tick one player.
2	Click Request ID document. The dialog now has two actions: Copy link and Send.
3	Click Copy link. The link lands on your clipboard and the player's row shows the ID doc requested badge — nothing has been emailed or WhatsApped.
4	Paste it wherever you need. If the browser blocks the automatic copy, a small dialog shows the link so you can copy it by hand.
5	After a bulk send, every player in the results list also gets a Copy link button — including the skipped and failed ones.

How the link behaves

- Personal and signed. Each link belongs to one player at one club. It shows only their first name and the club's branding — never an ID number.
- Works for 14 days. Copying again (or re-sending) refreshes the window.
- Dies once the document arrives. Whether the player uploads through the link or an admin uploads in the console, the open request completes and the link stops accepting documents.
- Survives nothing it shouldn't. If the player is deleted, erased or moved to another club, the link stops working. Requesting again after completion issues a fresh link.
- Same copy action as elsewhere. It behaves exactly like Copy link on squad requests and captain's reports.

Handle with care. Anyone holding the link can upload a document onto that player's record, so share it only with the player or their guardian. Copying is recorded in the audit log. Sent links and copied links are the same thing — you never need to worry about one cancelling the other.
