

What's new for the union and its clubs

Six things the union asked for, what each one does, who does what, and what to tell a club when they ask. Short on purpose.

PART ONE

At a glance

The Dolphins (KZNCU) office raised six issues in September. Five are live in the next release. One is waiting on a decision from the union. Every improvement applies to every union on the platform.

WHAT THE UNION ASKED	WHAT WE FOUND	WHAT CHANGED	WHERE
Clubs with two sides in one league can't tell which side a fixture belongs to	True. The fixtures list only showed the opponent.	Each fixture now names the club's own side. The next-match banner and the fixtures message sent to players do too.	Club portal → Fixtures
Insights shows 0 clubs in Veterans Premier and Veterans Promotion	The fixtures were loaded from the union's spreadsheet, but no club was ever recorded as entered in those two leagues.	The platform team runs a one-off correction that records each club's entries from the fixtures it plays in. Future fixture loads do this automatically. Insights now flags any league that has fixtures but no entrants.	Admin console → Insights
Dawnheights wants to enter U11 and U13 in the EMCU	EMCU is a district inside the Dolphins union, not a separate client. The junior leagues exist, but a club from another district couldn't see them.	Administrators can now enter a club into leagues from other districts. The club sees these as "entered by the union" and cannot accidentally remove them.	Admin console → Clubs → Leagues
Move the 12/13 December fixtures to 16/17 January	Confirmed: only Premier Men 50-Over and Veterans Promotion play that weekend. Veterans Promotion already plays on 16 January, so later rounds would need to shuffle.	Waiting on the union. The platform team can show the union a preview of the resulting calendar before anything changes.	Platform team
Saints Cricket Club has a new chairperson	Administrators could already change it. One gap: the previous chair's ID number and term dates stayed attached to the new name.	Fixed. A name change now clears the previous person's details.	Admin console → Clubs → Edit chairperson
Veterans sides want to pick players from any club	There was no way to do it.	A find-and-request flow. The player's own club must agree. The union office can step in if needed.	Club portal → Veterans squad; Admin console → Veterans Requests
The Insights export only gives totals ("34 clubs, 219 teams")	True. It never listed which teams were in which division.	Two new sheets in the export list every club and side, division by division.	Admin console → Insights → Export Excel

PART TWO

What clubs see

For club chairpersons and representatives. Three things look different.

Fixtures now say which of your sides is playing

Open Fixtures. Each series card ends with playing as Saints Cricket Club B (one side) or your sides: A, B, C (several). When a club fields two or more sides in the same series, the table gains a Side column. A match between a club's own sides appears once, with the home side under Side and the away side under Opponent.

IF A CLUB ASKS WHY IT TOOK SO LONG

The information was always there. The fixtures page simply never printed the club's own side, because most clubs field one side per league and never noticed.

Veterans squad: find a player, ask their club

A Veterans squad item appears in the left-hand menu, but only for clubs the union has fixtured into a veterans league. Nobody is added to a squad without their own club agreeing.

1 Find

Type at least three letters of a name into Find a player. The club sees the player's name and their club, nothing else. Players already attached to a veterans club, already registered in a veterans league, or the searching club's own players, do not appear.

2 Request

Click Request, optionally with a short note. The row shows Requested and the request appears under Pending requests, where it can be withdrawn. The other club's chairperson receives an email.

3 The other club decides

4 Done

On accept the player appears in the veterans club's Veterans affiliates list and under Recent outcomes. The player stays registered at their own club. Neither club's player count changes.

WHAT ACCEPTING DOES NOT DO

It does not move the player, change either club's numbers, or start a transfer. It records that this person plays veterans cricket for that club, the same thing a player records when they declare it at registration.

Leagues the union entered for you

If the union office enters a club into a league outside its district (an EMCU junior league for an Ilembe club, for example), step three of the affiliation form shows it under Entered by the union. The club cannot untick it, and re-saving the form or changing district will not drop it. Only the union office can remove it.

PART THREE

What the union office sees

For union administrators. Four screens changed.

Entering a club into another district's league

Clubs → the club → Leagues. Below the district's own leagues is a collapsed Leagues from other districts. Expand it, tick the leagues, Save leagues. Cross-district leagues stay visible with their district name even when the section is collapsed.

DAWNHEIGHTS

Clubs → Dawnheights Cricket Club → Leagues → expand → tick Under 11 and Under 13 under Ethekwini Metro Cricket Union → Save. One side each is the default.

Veterans Requests

A new Veterans Requests menu item with a count of pending requests. It lists every request in the union with filters for pending, accepted, declined and withdrawn. Clubs normally resolve these themselves; the office should Accept or Decline here only to unblock a stuck request. A decline asks for an optional reason, which the requesting club sees. Office decisions are marked as such and both chairpersons are emailed.

Insights and the Excel export

Per-league counts still count clubs that are entered in a league, not clubs that happen to have fixtures. A league with fixtures but no entrants now shows a small note asking the office to have the platform team correct it.

Export Excel gains Teams by league (one row per side, with club, district and chair contact) and

Clubs by league (one row per club per league, with the number of sides and their names).

Changing a chairperson

Clubs → the club → Edit chairperson. Enter the new name, email and cell. When the name differs from the current chair, a note explains that the previous person's ID number and term dates will be cleared; the club re-enters them on its affiliation form. Notices such as clearance alerts go to the new contact immediately.

THIS DOES NOT CHANGE WHO CAN LOG IN

Portal access is separate. Go to Team & Access, invite the new chair as a representative of the club, and remove the previous person's access.

PART FOUR

Who is responsible for what

TASK	WHO	NOTES
Request a player for a veterans side	Veterans club chair or representative	Only clubs the union has fixtured into a veterans league see the menu item.
Accept or decline a veterans request	The player's own club	The club is responsible for its players' information. It decides.
Unblock a stuck request	Union administrator	Marked as an office decision; both chairs emailed. Use sparingly.
Enter a club into another district's league	Union administrator	Clubs cannot do this themselves and cannot undo it.
Change a club's chairperson	Union administrator	Then update portal access under Team & Access.
Correct the veterans league counts in Insights	Platform team, on request from the office	A one-off correction per union. After that it happens automatically.
Move fixture dates in bulk	Platform team, on the union's written instruction	The union sees a preview first. Clubs are not notified automatically, so the union must communicate the change.
Read fixtures with your side shown	Everyone at the club	No action needed.

PART FIVE

Good to know

The questions clubs and the office are likely to ask, with the answers.

"Can another club see my players' details?"

No. The veterans finder shows a player's name and club, nothing more. ID numbers, contact details and dates of birth never leave the union office. Every search is recorded. A club can only search once the union has actually fixtured it into a veterans league; ticking the league on its own form is not enough.

"Does accepting a request move the player?"

No. It notes that the player plays veterans cricket for the other club. Player counts, demographics and clearances are unchanged. If the player later transfers, the note follows the normal transfer process.

"We never got the email."

Request, accept and decline emails go to the chairperson's email address on the club's record. A club with no chair email gets no email, but the request still shows in the portal. Check the chairperson details in the admin console. There are no WhatsApp messages for this feature.

"Insights still shows zero for veterans."

Insights and the export count clubs that are entered in a league. Until the platform team has run the one-off correction for that union, the two veterans leagues read zero and their divisions are empty in the export. Every other league already shows correctly.

"Why did the unattributed player figure go up?"

A player with no recorded league is assumed to play in their club's only league. When a club gains a second league through the correction, that assumption no longer applies, so the unattributed figure can rise. It is the honest number, not a fault.

"Have the December fixtures moved yet?"

Not yet. Only Premier Men 50-Over (both halves) and Veterans Promotion 30-Over play on 12 and 13 December. Veterans Promotion already plays on 16 January, so its later rounds would each move one week. Nothing changes until the union confirms, and clubs will need to be told directly when it does.
